

FLIGHTS TO TANZANIA

TIPS TO SAVE MONEY BOOKING PLANE TICKETS

- Flexibility with dates

January and November are the cheapest months to fly.
July and August are the most expensive.

-Packing in vacuum bags to compress the luggage.
On winter its best to wear the biggest coat and boots.

- Avoid coinciding with important events. Seasonality is very important. 100% of airlines raise prices, because they know they will fill the seats of their flights.

- You must book the flight ticket around six months in advance.
Keep in mind best days to travel are on Tuesdays or Wednesdays.

For long-distance flights according to reports by the airlines themselves and the search engines, to get between 10% and 22% of savings you have to book flights 21-28 weeks in advance. Approximately, between 5 and 7 months!

- Choose flights that depart early
Saving Money booking plane tickets means accepting some annoyances, such depart early or late. Even so, it is advisable to take into account the extra cost of the taxi at both airports.

- You can get discounts with the loyalty cards of the companies

- Set a price alert at search engines like Skyscanner.

- The scales lower the price of flights

- Take into account that some agencies vary the prices depending on the payment method.

-Delete cookies

Cookies are small files which store information about your searches.

They are not bad, they also facilitate the loading of the page the subsequent times you visit.

But if you enter and do not buy, the internet takes it into account to increase the price next time. That's why we recommend to enter as incognito mode.

- Buying the round trip board is not always cheaper.

- Search and compare a LOT

- If you think you've found your ideal flight at a reasonable price, BUY IT. Because it is very likely that tomorrow will be more expensive

Of course, if your priority is comfort and time, you need to pay more for these privileges.
